Dear Hiring Manager,

I am an MBA Chemist Veteran with a track record of stellar performance. After multiple moves, while my spouse completed medical training, we have set roots in the great state of Florida where I am looking for a permanent position. I want a career in pharmaceutical sales. Chemistry and biology deeply interest me. I love to win at sales and working to better people's lives while helping my community would be fulfilling. I have a very diverse background and many attributes that could maximize the potential of a sales role. I am experienced with territory growth, I am well versed in goal setting and budgeting, and I am competent in presenting to individuals or large gatherings. My success has come from the quality of my work. I routinely go above and beyond my basic responsibilities. I grow strong relationships with my customers and coworkers by being knowledgeable in my field and showing empathy toward their concerns. I greatly appreciate your consideration for this position. I strive to be a great team member, and I'm prepared to add value to your company.

Sincerely,

Adam "Chase" Migliore
