I am seeking a sales position within the CPG industry, my background has been in Account Management and Account Executive roles.

My years of experience in the consumer-packaged goods industry managing brokers, product lines, accounts and clients has provided me many opportunities to advance my career and knowledge in the industry. In my tenure managing several brands and customers has given me a diverse selling background. I have been responsible for growing and developing several accounts in the US with a strong enthusiasm for the CPG industry.

My 15 years with Post Consumer Brands as an Account Manager ended this past month. The company decided to move from a direct sales force to a broker selling team. I am excited to start a new chapter within the CPG industry. I hope to hear from you with any opportunities that match my skill set.

Sincerely,

Tabatha Bell
